Sister Francesca Directs Play; Announce Cast, Production Dates

Sister Maria Francesca, Director of the annual play, has announced December 12 and 14 as the production dates for South Pacific, a musical by Rodgers and Hammerstein.

Marilyn Hein, the successful portrayer of the KING is playing the part of Nellie Forbush. Mary Ellen York is Emile de Becque; Marlaine Elliot, Bloody Mary. Claire Tecca is rehearsing as Lt. Joseph Cable.

Practice schedules are very tight, for the cast expects to perform perfectly for a special showing for the Religious teachers on December 8, the Feast of the Immaculate Conception.

Sister Mary Douglas is giving her usual assistance as piano accompanist.

The original story is from the book by James Michener.

Open School Day—Nov. 10

Parents are invited to visit the classrooms and talk with the official teachers, subject teachers. This is an opportunity to learn the progress the students are making—before R-Day.

Mayor Honors Pat Dremucha

On the steps at City Hall, on Wednesday, October 11, 1961, His Honor Mayor Robert F. Wagner presented Patricia Dremucha — 1A3 — with a medal in order to give her efforts in the fire prevention essay contest official recognition.

In June, as a pupil of All Saints Elementary 8th grade, Patricia submitted her essay entitled "The Fire-Safe Home." At the beginning of this term, from the office of the Acting Fire Commissioner, Patricia received a notice that her essay had been adjudged deserving of commendation.

Patricia and the other winners were instructed to assemble at the south end of the Municipal Building at the corner of Chambers and Centre Streets. Members of the family, teachers and friends were also invited to witness the presentation.

In his letter to Pat, the Acting Commissioner expresses his hope that "the principles you have learned will be put into practice and in that manner prove the value of the education you are receiving."

NEW SCHOOL YEAR BEGINS WITH ANNUAL RETREAT

Father James talks informally with retreatants—Angela Negron, Elizabeth Thompson, Barbara Seeman.

Following the first two days of organization for the new school year, the students of All Saints entered upon a retreat of three days. During this time Father James Verity helped the girls to take stock of their spiritual life and then to redirect their steps toward their eternal goal.

Father James, the Vocation Director for the Passionist Fathers, came each day from the monastery in Jamaica to give the conferences and to hear the confessions, and give the closing benediction at 2:00 p.m.

Parish Priests Assist

To free Father James for hearing as many confessions as possible, Father Greco, our pastor, and his assistants offered the ten o'clock Mass on the three mornings of the retreat. Since there were almost 900 retreatants, they also helped with the confessions.

In addition to Father James' persistent plea that the girls make the Stations of the Cross every day, the topics discussed in the various conferences were: On being prepared for death, meditation on the Passion and death of Our Lord, Purity as exemplified by Maria Goretti, Vocation—religious and otherwise.

Private Devotions

Between the Mass and the conferences the students found ample time to say an extra rosary, make the Way of the Cross and do some spiritual reading.

Inquiries disclosed the fact that all of the students agreed that Father James understood teenagers and helped them to enjoy a beneficial retreat. Many commented that they "liked the retreat but would rather have it in Holy Week."

Excelsior Editors Attend Villanova Conference

Rosemarie Capobianco and Ann Griffin of the yearbook staff pause for a moment to capture the atmosphere of the campus.

On Saturday, September 30, five members of the editorial staff of the yearbook — Rosemarie Capobianco, Carolyn Bivona, Ann Griffin, Frances Rinaldi and Geraldine Cardinal—attended a Publication Conference at Villanova University in Pennsylvania.

The aim of those who attended this conference was to make 1962 Excelsior a good yearbook. The means these prospective prize-winning publication editors used was the first-hand association with, and the excellent and expertly presented ideas of yearbook specialists.

With combined efforts of the staff and moderator they hope to produce a book which will show the varied aspects of All Saints High School life.

The Conference was undoubtedly a rewarding and enlightening experience for all. A note of gratitude is extended to Sister Gertrude Magdalen who made this worthwhile experience possible.

Seniors Take State Exams For Scholarships

Eleven seniors took the Regents Scholarship examination administered on October 5, 1961, from 9:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

The candidates were: 4A1—Carol Feeney, Rose Ferguson, Ann Griffin, Marilyn Hein, Barbara Kreshak. 4A-2—Carolyn Bivona, Geraldine Cardinal, Ann Cashin, Katherine Ormistan, Marie Simonelli, Elaine Pugliese.

Based on this test, some 17,000 tax funded scholarships will be awarded to the high school graduates of the Class of 1962. Students failing to win a Regents Scholarship are eligible for a "Scholastic Incentive Award," a tuition payment ranging from $100 to $300 each year, provided that the college is in New York State. To merit these awards the students must demonstrate academic proficiency on the Scholarship Examination.

Flame Maintains First Honors Rating 2nd Consecutive Year

The Flame received a rating of "First Honors" for papers entered in the 1960-61 Critical Service of the Catholic School Press Association.

The survey rating sheet sent out by the association contains not only ratings but comments which serve as aids in putting out a better paper. Earning "First Honors" requires a minimum of 600 points; The Flame exceeded the required score by 80 points.

Deficiencies noted on the survey rating indicate a need for the staff to "show aggressiveness in digging up stories and presenting all the necessary facts." The raters also pointed out the need for better headlines. In all other areas the publication is considered good.

T.B. Assoc. Announces Press Project

Participation in the Annual School Press Project stimulates enthusiasm by the opportunity it presents for winning National and local recognition for effective stories on tuberculosis and other health subjects.

Here is a chance for science students, English students, school journalists and artists to produce news stories, features, editorials, cartoons and other art work on one of the three subjects: Our School Helps Our Community Fight TB; Health Science and Our Futures; and Our Health and the Air We Breathe. Detailed information on the 1961 School Press Project may be obtained from any of the editorial staff of The Flame.

The Brooklyn Health and Tuberculosis Association offers full cooperation to the students prior to the completion. Those who are interested may visit the Association headquarters for personal interviews or for assistance with printed research material.

Special Award

The Brooklyn judges will select a winner among the writers on Health Careers and present that student newspaper with a special citation.

Kathleen McCool, Teresa Silvani (Freshmen), and Carol Ann Juliano (Junior) await their turn on the confession line.

Alumnae Meets November 9

All Saints Alumnae will meet in the auditorium at eight o'clock, on Thursday, November 9, for the semi-annual "get together" and for the initiation of the seniors.

Sister Anselma, moderator of the alumnae, has planned an "Autumn Festival of Music" for the entertainment of the alumnae and the seniors. The auditorium will be decorated in the traditional fall colors.

Why Do You Do It?

Once again, after a long period of years, the merit system has been revived in All Saints.

This is a good incentive for all students to work harder. Sister Gertrude Magdalen has announced that a girl must get ninety per cent or more on a test to receive a merit card, and three of these cards to have the privilege of selecting a prize. Will some girls get better grades because a prize is waiting for them? Or maybe because there is a third person checking their papers?

I wonder who the girls are who work because they want to be good students. Only God and the girl herself know this. Do you?

Get Into the Swing . . .

Classes and homework are not the only aspects of school life. There are many activities and clubs which are there for your benefit.

These organizations instill a school spirit. They unite more closely the student body, not to mention the fun and enjoyment which comes from participating in school affairs.

In order to get more out of your school life, give some of your time to its activities.

Something that is lacking in certain quarters in All Saints is school spirit. Many students do not cooperate with the drives. Often there is a small turn out at the dances.

Some students do not join any extra-curricular activities in the school.

But the majority of the girls cooperate with school activities and those are the girls who will get the most out of high school.

To Whom God's Love Commits You

John XXIII has seen how little attention we have given to our Guardian Angels, and to replenish the devotion, he has dedicated the month of October to our Guardian Angels.

Even though you did not realize it every day every one of us has a guardian angel. You may say, "What is a Guardian Angel and what does he do for us?"

Our Guardian Angel is a messenger sent to us from God, to protect and watch over us. He intercedes for us in the granting of our favors and petitions. He is with us every moment of the day whether we are sleeping, eating, studying, walking, or just relaxing. He watches over us when we are crossing the street, in riding in cars and any place else where danger might strike, he is there to protect us. When we are tempted he is always there to guide us toward the right road. He tells us to be careful of our companions who might be occasions of sin.

It is no wonder that our Guardian Angel is so sad when we do not think of him. After he does so much for us, we just turn our backs on him and give up the best friend we ever had. So since this is his month, we should try to make up to him by saying the "Angels' Prayer" at least once every day.

Remember, best friends are hard to find; so keep this one, if you want him to be your friend forever—your Guardian Angel!

Practice Makes Perfect

Fire Drills help us to know what to do in a case of fire. We have one in school at least once every week. They are to help us in time of disaster.

During a fire drill, we must obey strict rules. Running is forbidden since it may cause accidents while trying to get out of the building. Talking is also against the rules. More people die by talking and running, and minding other people's business then by getting caught in the fire itself.

In other words, fire drills help us to avoid panic when trying to escape a fire in some building or even a school. By practicing this very often in school, we grow accustomed to the idea; and in time of real disaster, we know exactly what to do and how to do it; and, of course, fewer deaths may occur—none if possible.

Don't you think that practicing a fire drill so often does help us? I think so. And I also think that we should cooperate more in a drill. Obey the rules and you can't go wrong.

You Don't Say . . .

Question: What would YOU do if you were principal for a day?

Joanne Amato, 2A6
I'd give a five hour recess.

Kathleen Monahan, 3A1
I'd let the girls feel like girls, let them wear their hair the way they want and the proper amount of make-up.

Geraldine Wisnewski, 3A1
Suspend all rules and regulations and allow the girls to do as they please.

Claire Tecca, 3A2
I would have an open house for all the girls' friends.

Sandra Gizzi, 4A1
I would make all the girls wear their own clothes.

Mary Ann Geffken, 4A3
I'd invite a boy's high school.

Janet Carley, 4A4
I don't know. I think I'd be too shocked to do anything.

Poet's Corner

A Sophomore's Prayer

Last year I was a freshman,
And walked with my head down low;
And whenever a sophomore said
"Move,"
I'd hurry up and go.

This year I am a sophomore
And walk with my head held high,
And when the day is over,
I say a prayer and sigh.

I wish and hope and practically beg,
And so hard do I pray,
"Dear God, please help me pass
My sten, typing and B.A."

I study hard and do my best,
To pass these subjects;
I read my notes and study
From every single text.

Each day when I come home
And think of these subjects—so hard.
I thank and love and pray for more help,
From dear, generous God.

Yes, now I'm in the second year,
A sophomore that's me,
Yet I can't wait 'till next year
For a junior I will be!

Senior Song

Now we're All Saints' Seniors,
Three years have passed away,
We'll keep on having fun and joy,
'Till graduation day.
Forgetting All Saints High School,
Is something we don't fear,
We'll have to take advantage,
'Cause this is our last year.
We'll really miss the sisters,
And the teachers we have known.
We've had our education,
And we'll soon be on our own.
So, have a lot of fun now,
Before friends drift apart,
Memories of All Saints High
Will remain in each girls heart!!!

Juniors Ride On Air; Enjoy Capital Sights

Empty wallets and sore bodies were the physical results of All Saints' annual trip to Washington during the week of October 23, 24, 25.

Sixty-three juniors went, accompanied by Sisters Gertrude Magdalen, Marie Corita, Mary Patricia, Ellen William, Martin Joseph, Mary Donald and Mrs. Coleman and Miss Sorrocco.

Among the more interesting sights were the Capitol Building, the White House, the drill at Annapolis, the changing of the guards at Arlington, the Washington and Lincoln Memorials and the beautiful Shrine of the Immaculate Conception.

FIRST FRIDAY DIALOGUE MASS

On the first Friday of every month, the High School will participate in the Dialogue Mass. The reason for this is to help everyone to take a more active part in the Mass. This Mass will make the students more fully understand the true value of the Mass. Pamphlets have been distributed to all the students, and will aid them to say the responses in Latin.

Say What You Please

. . . and that's what we mean. This letters column, to be a regular feature, is open to your opinion on any subject, whether you are agreeing with or criticizing the matter. We want to know WHAT's ON YOUR MIND?

There will be an envelope at the end of each corridor. Please contribute any bit of news, a suggestion which may come in very hand, or a disagreement. Your words and ideas may soon appear in the Flame.

Staff Members Study Journalism Technique

Once again the Catholic Institute of the Press is conducting the annual School of Journalism. The course meets at Cathedral High School, Lexington Avenue and 50th Street, on seven Friday evenings, starting October 6, 1961. Classes start at 7 p.m., end at 9 p.m.

C.I.P. School of Journalism is in its 17th year with a registration of approximately 500. The faculty is drawn from the ranks of working newsmen, well qualified to give the students a professional overview of the field.

The seven sessions deal with such topics as "Organization of a Newspaper," "The Reporter," "Rewriting and Copy Editing," "The Interview," "Layout and Makeup," and "The Communication Field." The sessions are divided into a period for a lecturer (such as Bob Considine, Nick Kenny, Kevin Kennedy, and Father James Keller, of the Christophers) and a workshop period, in which the students get the individual assistance from a "City Editor," one of the working newsmen.

Carol Ann Casale, Editor-in-Chief of The Flame, and Geraldine Cardinal, Excelsior staff member, are now enrolled in the course, and are learning the techniques of journalism which will aid them and the other staff members to produce a first-rate publication.

Juniors Interview Camelot Star

Florence Meditz, Theresa Henderson pose with Robert Goulet.

Florence Meditz and Theresa Henderson, cousins, in 3A1 organized the Robert Goulet Fan Club last April, after seeing Mr. Goulet on various television programs.

Mr. Goulet's portrayal of Lancelot marks his first Broadway performance. In addition to being an actor this charming twenty-seven year old newcomer is also an excellent singer and a friendly conversationalist. Born in Lawrence Mass., Mr. Goulet spent many of his early years in Canada. There he studied voice at the Toronto Conservatory of Music.

After his first unsuccessful try at Broadway in 1955 he returned to Toronto where he became the star of the variety program, "Showtime." This opening led to the audition for "Camelot" and his present success.

Hoping to organize a fan club for him Florence and Theresa went to meet Mr. Goulet at the stage entrance to the Majestic Theatre. He invited them to his dressing room, to discuss the Fan Club in greater detail. They told him of the club's aim, to help publicize their favorite, as well as their secondary aim, to donate money to CARE in his name. He approved of this idea.

He showed them the objects of interest in his dressing room which consisted of: the helmet and the sword he wears as part of his costume, the trophies proclaiming that Mr. Goulet has twice been the "Most Valuable Player" in the Broadway Show League and several trinkets to commemorate minor roles in the past.

They also had the privilege of hearing him "limbering up" his excellent voice for the matinee performance.

Their conversation covered diverse topics ranging from music to stage make-up to literature. In the last category, Mr. Goulet's taste runs to the French classics which reads in the original language.

After an hour of pleasant small talk Florence and Theresa took a reluctant leave. Mr. Goulet gave them thirty autographed pictures to distribute to the club members, and an invitation to return again.

Robert Goulet, Lancelot of Lerner and Leow's Camelot, in costume, flashes a smile for his fan club.

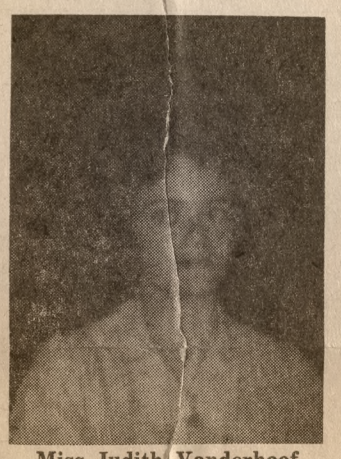
Spotlight on Faculty...

Sister Winifred Marie

Sister Winifred Marie originally taught at Saint Michaels Commercial. She finds the All Saints girls very cooperative and full of school spirit. The ticket system in Sister's opinion is of great value because it penalizes the guilty and gives recognition to the good at promotion. Among the subjects taught by Sister Winifred are history and religion. Her favorite foods are any kind of sweets. Sister would like to close with these words of advice, "The girls will never appreciate school until they are out working, so they should appreciate and welcome the advice of the faculty because it is for their own good."

Sister Mary Arlene

Sister came from St. Thomas Aquinas in San Juan, Puerto Rico. Sister likes All Saints very much, especially the cooperation of the freshmen. She said that she thought the ticket system was good because it keeps the girls mindful of their conduct and also their respect towards the faculty. Sister Arlene made a record that Sister George Ella sold to the girls last year. We will all be looking forward to Sisters new records. Who knows she may turn out to be the first Connie Francis of the Dominican Order. Sister teachers music, algebra and other subjects. Sister loves Egg Plant, Parmigano.



Miss Judith Vanderhoof

Miss Vanderhoof is a graduate of St. Joseph's College for Women, a former member of the faculty of Our Lady Of Perpetual Help in Bay Ridge. She thinks the girls are well behaved and the thing she likes most about the school is the good discipline due to the ticket system. Right now she has no dislikes about the school. The subjects she teaches are citizenship and history. She would like very much to go to Washington so girls keep your fingers crossed. I am sure the girls going on the trip would enjoy her company. She would like to give the girls advice. "You should use your talents to the best of your ability and never settle for less. Because this is something no one can take away from you." Miss Vanderhoof favorite food is fish.

Hi there! School is in and all is well. Almost well, that is, except for Miriam Gerena of 2A2, who is always getting into trouble for laughing (sophomore no less) . . . We have a scoundrel in the school. Yes, Sister Douglas has just said that Mrs. Coleman has stolen her bicycle and sold it to Sister George Ella. Does Sister Douglas get the bike or does Sister George Ella ($64,000 Question).

Fall is here and love has just begun for Miss Martino who has her eye on Robert Goulet. And what about Theresa Henderson of 3A1 who was kissed by him three times (imagine thrills and spills).

Help! we need help for Sister Jean Gregory who is trying so hard to make this Halloween Dance a success. And for Sister Margaret George who is collecting star-topped Pepsi-Cola bottle caps for the Dominican Novitiate Building Fund (save those caps). . . . Who is the Junior in Row 4, Table 7, 7th seat, 2nd lunch, who never has the right change for the counter.

The freshmen have learned, after a few parts down the middle, that teased hair and Sister Gertrude Magdalen do not mix, which includes the rest of the school. . . . The second lunch has been very generous to Sister Jude Marie's mission box (although not voluntarily). Watch those tickets and count those merit cards.

M. YORK ALMOST MISS AMERICAN TEENAGER

Mary Ellen York, pretty senior of 4A1 entered the "Miss American Teenager Contest," which was held at Palisades Amusement Park this past summer.

During the summer Mary Ellen worked as a model for Mr. Joseph Giordano, a reporter for the Daily News. Mr. Giordano gave her a photograph which he has taken of her and she entered it in the contest.

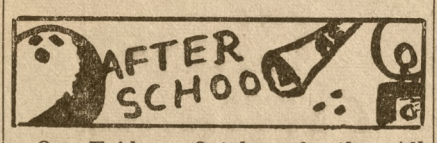
Mary Ellen, who has long blonde hair and green eyes, was one of the fifty girls chosen out of 250 to compete in the preliminaries.

Although she did not win the title of "Miss American Teenager," it was a very exciting and memorable experience for her.

FOR SPANISH STUDENTS ONLY

Nuestra clase de español es siempre muy interesante y deleitable. Cuando la clase comienza, las señoritas forman grupos. Unas señoritas leen libros españoles, otras señoritas leen los libros en inglés cerca do los países españoles, y otras escuchan los discos españoles. Los discos son muy buenos para la pronunciación. Otras estudiantes conversan en español. Esto es muy difícil, porque no es fácil hablar rápidamente en español y comprenderlo.

Todas las señoritas esperan con placer la clase de español, y tambien disfrutan de sus clases de españoles.



On Friday, October 6, the All Saints Bowling Club had their first meeting at Ridgewood Lanes in Long Island. The girls bowled two games which they enjoyed very much. At these new lanes, the girls have every convenience that will make their membership in this club very enjoyable.

The girls are allowed to change into regular clothes, providing that they are ready by 3:30 p.m. There is a refreshment counter which the girls use freely. These lanes are equipped with every facility which makes bowling an enjoyable sport. On Friday, 128 girls joined this club which is moderated by Miss Martino, who, by the way, is an excellent bowler. She helps the girls in every way possible. At the first meeting, the high average scores for the day was made by: Marilyn Haley, 127; Helen Martin, 126; and Mary Ellen Coleman, 115.

From the looks of the first meeting, the bowling club looks like it will have a very enjoyable year, and we, the girls of this club hope that we will continue every week to meet and have just as many girls as the first meeting. The Ridgewood Lanes are providing free transportation to their lanes and this is probably why the girls want to come bowling. If you do not belong to any activity in school, why not join the bowling club. Just get in touch with Miss Martino or Helen Martin in the O. P. room. Come on girls and join this exciting club!

Dance

All Saints has been getting prepared for their annual dances. Under the supervision of Sister Jean Gregory, the seniors have formed a dance committee. They are very enthusiastic about the success of the coming dances and need the wholehearted cooperation of each and every member of the student body.

Our first dance will be a Halloween Dance on October 28. The auditorium will be decorated with Halloween colors and will have ghosts, witches, goblins and skeletons hanging all around. These festive decorations will set the mood for a Halloween atmosphere.

We hope all the girls will try to attend this dance and all the others.

Band

The Sunday of October 1, the All Saints band stepped out in honor of Pulaski Day. They were included into the Irvington Division of the parade. Strutting down the street in the brilliant school colors, they played the Marines' Hymn. They marched from Madison and 30th Street to 52nd Street and 5th Avenue. Going past St. Patrick's Cathedral, the Color Guard presented arms and the Papal flag was dipped.

The next Sunday they marched in Newark, New Jersey. This parade was in honor of the Holy Name Society. All Saints marched in the company of St. Philip Neri's Holy Name. Afterward refreshments were served, which everyone enjoyed.

JOSEPHITES OFFER SCHOLARSHIPS

The Josephite Missionaries in Baltimore have annuounced a nationwide essay contest in which Catholic high school seniors have been invited to write on racism. The topic is "What Is Racism Doing to the Catholic Church in America Today?"

Father George F. O'Dea, S.S.J., superior general of the community which works among the Negroes, said that college scholarships would be offered as awards.

The purpose of the topic is to stimulate interest among Catholic students in the obligations of Catholics toward their fellow men in the field of human relations. The theme will center the thinking of the participants on the effects of segregation and discrimination on the spiritual and social development of the Negro Catholic and the Caucasian Catholic.

Five Scholarships Offered

The project is the beginning of a five-year program. There will be five $1,000 scholarship awards made each year for winners to use at the college of their choice. The twenty-five finalists will be announced March 19, 1962. Each of the twenty runners-up will be awarded a Remington Standard typewriter.

The board of judges will be composed of Brother Augustine Philip, F.S.C., president of Manhattan College; Associate Justice of the New York Supreme Court Harold Stevens and Mrs. Roger L. Putnam of Springfield, Mass., president of the Catholic Scholarship Fund for Negroes.

Contest Starts Nov. 2

The essays are to be between 800 and 1,000 words. The contest within the Catholic high schools will begin November 2 and end at midnight December 7.

Seniors, ask your teachers about the details. It is very possible that you might be one of the twenty-five winners. All you have to do is express your opinion on this current topic.
